

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC PRESENTS

AN EVENING OF FIELD RESEARCH AND EXPLORATION

WITH KENNY BROAD AND MARK SYNNOTT

Ecological anthropologist and National Geographic 2011 Explorer of the Year, Kenny Broad, recounts his diving expedition to the Bahamas Blue Holes.

The North Face Athlete and renowned climber, Mark Synnott, recounts an expedition climbing and sailing around Oman's Musandam Peninsula.

Photo by Jimmy Chin

The University of New Mexico

Free Admission, Open to the Public

Lecture Hall 163, Anthropology Building

Saturday, September 19, 2015

Doors open at 6:30 p.m.

7:00 p.m.

Sponsored by:

THE UNIVERSITY of NEW MEXICO

The Brinson Foundation

An extension of the University of New Mexico's Young Explorers Grants Workshop