

UNM Department of Anthropology

Application for Undergraduate Fellowships, Scholarships and Awards

Anthropology supports five different undergraduate awards. This is a common-use application for all of these awards. You can find information on all of these awards on our website under the undergraduate tab, funding opportunities. This application and supporting materials are due by the second Friday in March and decisions will be made by March 31.

Name

Banner ID

Address

Phone Number

Email

Major and Concentration

Standing/Year

Other Major or Minor

GPA

Are you enrolled in a Department or University Honors Program?

Awards for Consideration (check eligibility):

Ortiz Scholarship for Indigenous Students (for indigenous students only)

John Campbell Undergraduate Research Award

Ann Ramenofsky Honors Award (for department honors students only)

Maxine Graves Honors Scholarship (for department honors students only)

Barbara MacCaulley Scholarship (for female archaeology students only)

Larson Scholarship (first generation and transfer students preferred)

Project Title and main goal(s) of your research and/or training (1-2 sentences):

Anthropology (and related) courses you have completed:

Describe your background and experience in research, training, and outreach in anthropology and related fields and how an award would contribute to your further professional development (300-500 words):

Provide a preliminary budget for project or training, and justify how these funds would be used (approx. 250 words) Please provide as complete a budget as possible for your project. This should include expenses beyond the typical award amounts:

In addition to this application, you must provide the following to be considered for an award:

1. Letter of Support from a faculty member who is familiar with your work at UNM
2. Unofficial Transcripts (can be downloaded through LoboWeb)

Submit your application materials (compiled into a single PDF with your last name as part of the file name) electronically to the Department at anthro@unm.edu by the second Friday of March. Include "Undergraduate Anthropology Award Application" in the email subject line.