

UNM Department of Anthropology

Application for Archaeology Field School Hibben Undergraduate Fellowship, 2022

We announce a new program of undergraduate fellowships for Native American, Hawaiian, Alaskan, and Pacific Islanders providing basic field training in archaeology. This program, co-sponsored by the University of New Mexico and Los Alamos National Laboratory, will take place over a period of 8 weeks in the summer of 2022, with 4 weeks in the field, 2 weeks in the laboratory at UNM, and 2 weeks for students to complete a short final paper. This application and supporting materials are due on March 15, 2022 and decisions on awards will be made by March 30, 2022.

Name

Address

Phone Number

Email

University/College

Standing/Year

Major, Concentration and Minor

GPA

Gender

Ethnicity

Race

Native American

Tribal Affiliation

Native Hawaiian

Native Alaskan

Pacific Islander

Indigenous

Other Under-Served Group(s)

List anthropology (and related) courses you have completed

UNM Department of Anthropology
Hibben Undergraduate Student Fellowship Application

Describe your background and experience in research, training, and outreach in anthropology and related fields and how an award would contribute to your further professional development

UNM Department of Anthropology

Hibben Undergraduate Fellowship Application

In addition to the application, you must provide the following to be considered for this award:

Letter of Support from a faculty member who is familiar with your work at UNM or the college you attend (may be submitted with application or sent separately by the faculty member)

Unofficial Transcripts--for UNM applicants this can be downloaded and printed through LoboWeb

Submit your application materials (compiled into a single pdf with your last name as part of the file name) electronically to Hannah Mattson, hmattson@unm.edu by March 15, 2022. Include "Archaeology Field School-Hibben Undergraduate Fellowship Award Application" in the email subject line.

---